

LION, SYMBOL OF AN EMPIRE

One of Venice's charms is the amount of winged lions that you can spot about the lagoon city. The lion represents San Marco, Venice's patron saint however you will find lions with books, goddesses women, men on horseback and even on tombs. This proud image is everywhere in Venice; gazing down from buildings, looking out from the keystone of an archway, or standing on fluted columns. The more you look, the more you see: no one knows how many there are.
